Sugar Waste

Much fine natural fruit sugar, ideal for satisfying the sweet tooth and for making puddings, cakes and ... goes to waste each ... are allowed to fall and rot. The persimmon is one of the sweetest fruits grown in this country. Analyses show that it is nearly one-third sugar—second only to the date in sugar content. The fig has only half as much sugar and the peach only one-fifth as much. Persimmons must be fully mature and ripe to lose their puckering quality. Unfortunately, the mistaken idea has persisted that persimmons are unfit to eat until they have been frosted. Actually, freezing is bad for persimmons. Many of the finest persimmons are lost each year because they ripen and fall before frost. Those not edible before frost are late varieties and not yet mature.

Restore Shape

Some straw hats can be returned to shape with an ordinary iron, although it is impossible to give them an entirely new one. It is necessary to work carefully, using crushed paper pads, to prevent damage to the original shape of the hat. Certain synthetics burn or melt with heat, so the straw should be tested in an inconspicuous spot before attempting to press. If the hat passes the test, pad its crown and the inward curve of the brim with crushed paper, and sponge lightly with a damp cloth wherever irregularities occur. Work the damp straw into shape with the fingers and then, with paper pads still in place, press the outside of the crown and outward curve of the brim, using tissue paper between the straw and the iron.

A Million Children Have Ear Defects

Half of Cases Can Be Aided, Says Authority.

CHICAGO.—One million children exclusive of the totally deaf are suffering from some form of hearing deficiency, it was reported.

About 50 per cent of impaired hearing cases in children can be improved, according to Bonna M Bequette's article in the April issue of Hygeia, health magazine of the American Medical association.

The hard-of-hearing child is not on a par with other children in the classroom, she pointed out, because he receives only partial benefits of oral instruction.

"A doctor should be consulted to determine if the hearing impairment is caused by a physical defect or disease which can be corrected or cured, such as tonsils, adenoids or sinusitis," she wrote.

Miss Bequette suggested that children whose hearing impairment occurred at birth or in infancy will usually profit from special classes in lip reading.

She advised a special hearing aid for those mature enough to care for it, especially those whose hearing losses are nearer 40 than 20 per cent.

"Since hearing impairment is a defect affecting the language processes, the child should be encouraged to take an active interest in language activities," she said.

"He should be watched so that he does not withdraw from groups or undergo a personality change as the direct result of his impaired hearing.

"Favorable results are obtained if the special considerations that are shown the hearing impaired child are done without calling attention to the defect."

Phone Girl Is 'Witness' To Slaying and Suicide

AKRON, IND. — A telephone operator told recently how she heard a quarrel followed the murder-suicide of a man and wife.

Miss Joan Heeter answered a call and heard Ruth Eber, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Eber, scream for help.

The scream was interrupted by a single shot that tore into the girl's right side. Seconds later Miss Heeter heard another shot, apparently the one that killed Eber, 47, an assistant postmaster.

Coroner Dean Sinson theorized that Eber killed his wife in a family quarrel, then shot and seriously wounded his daughter as she sought to telephone for help.

Then, Sinson believes Eber shot himself with a 45-caliber pistol he apparently had taken from the post office.

Sinson found Eber dead with the pistol in his hand. His wife, Ruth, who helped at the post office, died en route to a hospital. The daughter, a student nurse, was tying near the dangling telephone.

Man Sacrifices His Life In Saving Ten Others

KEMPTOWN, W. VA. — Peter Howard Scripp, 33, sacrificed his life to save ten other coal miners in a mine of the Davis Coal & Coke company.

Scripp, who was standing clear, darted to the switches to send a runaway string of mine cars into an empty chamber. The cars piled up against several other cars and he was crushed to death beneath them.

Ten workers at the bottom of the pit would have been killed or injured if the runaways were not diverted.

Sweden Decides to Cut Ration as Aid to Hungry

STOCKHOLM.—The Swedish government has decided to cut bread and grain rations by about 6 per cent, in order to save grain much needed by war-ravaged countries in Europe. This will save 22,000 tons of rye and 50,000 tons of wheat which already have been purchased in America. Grain to be used for relief in Europe is at the disposal of U. S. authorities.

Will Bring War Dead Back Home

Under Present Plans Next of Kin Will Be Polled on Reburial Wishes.

WASHINGTON. — Preparations have been completed for the work of returning 200,000 or more of the nation's war dead. The necessary legislation has passed both houses of congress.

The measure authorizes an outlay which may exceed 200 million dollars.

Under present plans, next of kin will be polled to determine whether they desire reburial in national or private cemeteries in this country, or prefer to let those who gave their lives overseas rest there. The entire program will require from two to five years, officials estimated, the Associated Press reports.

Meanwhile, in 350 scattered cemeteries in Europe, Asia, the Pacific islands and elsewhere, approximately 241,500 of the approximately 325,000 American war dead have found temporary resting places, by latest reports.

Plan Fewer Cemeteries

Official plans call for a continuous reduction in the number of overseas cemeteries as adequate care and protection may be given graves. In the Pacific, for, example, bodies not brought back to this country may be placed in permanent resting places in Manila and Honolulu.

Reports to the army quartermaster general's American graves registration service indicate that graves record ... rarities have had to match the ... ions and ingenuity of the ... ing men.

In New Guinea ... ted graves have been marked by ... es 15 feet high to stand ... ove fast-growing jungle vegetation ... pending transfer of bodies. One party required almost two months to reach the scene of an air crash on a 9,000 foot peak and then to return to base by plane.

In the Philippines the consolidation of cemeteries is almost complete, except for the jungle-choked Bataan peninsula. A report from Capt. S. J. Gladys, who was General MacArthur's graves registration officer on Bataan and Corregidor, suggested that Japanese inhumanity in the 1942 fighting makes unlikely the identification of hundreds of American and Filipino dead.

Task Difficult in China.

He said that after Corregidor's fall the Japanese refused American pleas and heaped up and cremated American dead along with their own fallen troops.

In China the task of finding and identifying American remains has been as difficult. More than 1,000 missing army and navy men were being sought recently by eight-man search teams in the isolated "hump" area of the Himalayas between India and China and in coastal regions from which aerial sweeps against Japan were made.

The bodies of thousands of persons, particularly those lost at sea, may never be recovered. The number of those officially listed as "missing" is being steadily reduced by painstaking checking of records and reports, but the army, navy and marines and coast guard togeth- er count 14,605 still in this category.

The graves registration service dates to 1867. At the close of the American Civil war there were 316,233 recorded burials of which 140,469 were unidentified men. From World War I, 1,643 bodies never have ... been identified.

Call Out Armor In Food Riots

Cars Form Mobile Squads to Guard Convoys and Put Down Violence.

HAMBURG, GERMANY. — British occupation officials announced that mobile armored squads have been organized to put down food riots and root out sabotage groups taking advantage of tension resulting from the general hunger, says the United Press.

Armored cars will join military forces protecting food convoys if additional "difficulty" occurs, the announcement said.

Rations Devoured.

Severe restrictions are to be placed upon the Germans to prevent them from buying and devouring their entire month's ration in a "few days," authorities said. German officials said that had happened on a large scale in Hamburg recently.

The British expressed doubt that 70 per cent of Hamburg's population was without bread because of this practice, as German civilian officials claimed.

'Four Supply Adequate.'

"Checks show that bakers' shops still have adequate supplies of flour," one British official said. "We believe the looting recently was due to a highly vociferous minority."

Meanwhile, authorities scoured Scandinavia and the empire for new food supplies. An announcement said a British control commission was seeking fish and canned vegetables to substitute for the meat ration.

Seek Supplies.

Supplies are being sought in the United States, Britain, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Denmark and Norway. The search has uncovered quantities of white cabbage, carrots and Swedish turnips in Denmark which have been bought for immediate shipment to Hamburg, according to reports from Copenhagen. The vegetables were valued at 1,500,000 kroner ($300,000 at the 1939 rate of exchange).

First consignments of other foreign food shipments are en route to the British zone, and all should arrive in the next few months, commission officials said. However, they foresaw only a 10 days' supply of flour and insufficient quantities of all other foods except fish.

Additional supplies will be needed, it was announced, to maintain even the "Belsen" ration of 900 calories a day introduced in the British zone on April 1.

"If rations are not increased we shall begin to see its effect on the population in the British zone in a short time," said a high British medical officer. "What happens after that is anybody's guess."

Victory Medal Ordered; Filipinos Are Eligible

WASHINGTON. — The war department recently ordered procurement of the World War II victory medal.

It may be awarded to all members of the armed forces of the United States or of the government of the Philippines who served honorably on active duty at any time between December 7, 1941, and V-J Day.

Pending manufacture of the medal, the service ribbon is being issued as soon as available. The first supply will go to stations at which soldiers are being discharged.
